

New Website for the North Shore Multicultural Society

NSMS is pleased to announce the launch of our new website! We are so proud of our new site and we hope you will enjoy it just as much as we do.

This website was created with our clients in mind. We designed every aspect of this site with the client's needs first and foremost. The most important and relevant information our clients search for is clearly organized and easily accessible. Our workshops and programs page is now searchable, using language or service type, and all information is organized in a way that makes sense to our clients.

An improvement over our former website, this one was created with the mobile user in mind. More and more people are searching for information on their smartphones and tablets, meaning our website needed to function properly and be easily accessible on computers, smartphones, and tablets. Our new design now moves seamlessly between devices and screens of all sizes.

A key highlight that goes along with our new website is our new agency images. We worked with a professional photographer and recruited volunteer models to help us create new images that illustrate who we are, what we do, and who we serve. These images, seen throughout our new website, show the heart of NSMS. They are warm and inviting, represent people from diverse backgrounds, and highlight the friendly faces you will see when coming to NSMS.

We are dedicated to serving our communities – newcomers and immigrants, long-term residents, and our community service partners. Through our wide array of settlement, employment, and English language programs, our diversity and inclusion services, and our community engagement initiatives, we strive to create strong, welcoming, and inclusive communities where everyone thrives. Our new website supports this commitment by providing clear and accessible information about our services, programs, and mission.
